THEME OF WORSHIP

Focus on the Process

If these things are yours and abound, you will be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. - 2 Peter 1:8

In William Zinsser's book On Writing Well, he says that many writers suffer from "the tyranny of the final product." They are so concerned with selling their article or book, they neglect learning the process of how to think, plan, and organize. A jumbled manuscript, Zinsser believes, is produced when "the writer, his eye on the finish line, never gave enough thought to how to run the race."

Author and minister A.W. Tozer applies that principle to our spiritual lives. In his book The Root of the Righteous, Tozer describes our tendency to be "concerned only with the fruit . . . [and] ignore the root out of which the fruit sprang."

The apostle Peter reminded first-century believers that Christlike living and effective service result from a process. He urged them to grow in eight areas of spiritual development: faith, virtue, knowledge, self-control, perseverance, godliness, brotherly kindness, and love (2 Peter 1:5-7). If you possess these qualities in increasing measure, Peter said, "you will be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ" (v.8).

God calls us to a wonderful process of learning to know Him, with the assurance that it will lead to productive service in His name and for His honor.

- David McCasland

Lord, so often we want complete and perfect solutions here and now. But You work graciously in Your good time. Let Your goodness and patience and virtue shine through us so that we may bless others.

Health Nugget

Kick off your shoes. Not in your bedroom, though, at the front door. Experts say it keeps you from tracking in allergen-loaded soil and pollen.

Give someone a squeeze. A 10-second hug lowers blood pressure by increasing the feel-good hormone oxytocin and lowering the stress chemical cortisol.

Drink your watermelon. A tall glass of watermelon juice can relieve muscle soreness because of the melon's high levels of an amino acid called L-citrulline.

Remember your feet. The tops of your toes—as well as the tips of your ears—tend to get burned frequently, so be sure to slather sunscreen on these places.

Savor a slice. Of cucumber, that is, pressed to the roof of your mouth for 90 seconds, it can eliminate bad breath by increasing saliva, experts say.

Stick out your tongue. Then scrape it. This not only helps reduce bad breath, it also protects against gum disease, colds and cavities.
