Health Nugget

Do Megadose Vitamins Help Prevent Dementia?

Everyone should be trained in health, commencing in childhood! Ellen White wrote: "A practical knowledge of the science of human life is necessary in order to glorify God in our bodies. It is therefore of the highest importance that among the studies selected for childhood, physiology should occupy the first place. . . . Many are drifting about without knowledge, like aship at sea without compass or anchor; and what is more, they are not interested to learn how to keep their bodies in a healthy condition and prevent disease." *

There is no evidence that megadoses of vitamins, especially where there is not a deficiency, help in the prevention of dementia. They can be harmful.

What does help? Regular exercise; regular healthy sleep habits; a balanced vegetarian diet rich in phytochemicals, naturally occurring vitamins, and minerals; and, in those choosing a total vegetarian diet, supplementation of vitamin B<sub>12</sub>. Meditation on the Word, works, and ways of God, and a strong purpose for living, are also useful preventatives!

In short, live the Adventist health message wholistically, and the start of cognitive dysfunction may be delayed. Progression of the inevitable may be delayed as well.
